About Westcon-Comstor Academy

Westcon-Comstor Academy underscores a global commitment to channel education that began more than 30 years ago. We offer a complete portfolio of sales, presales, certification and technical training courses to provide hands-on experience with the latest products and applications. We partner with leading organizations to deliver additional education and enablement opportunities. Solutions can be customized for your local and global needs, and approved vendor courses can be resold to end-user customers at higher margins, appearing as your own training offers.

About Palo Alto Networks

As the next-generation security company, Palo Alto Networks is leading a new era in cybersecurity, safely enabling all applications and preventing advanced threats from achieving their objectives for tens of thousands of organizations worldwide. The company's stunning growth stems from deep expertise, commitment to innovation and game-changing security platform focused on bringing an end to breaches by integrating Next Generation Firewall, Advanced Endpoint Protection and Threat Intelligence Cloud.
